Introduction

Dear Parents and Students,

Welcome to Jenks Public Schools Native American Education Program. The policies and procedures in this handbook govern the Jenks Public Schools Native American Education grant programs and have been approved by the Title VI and Johnson O'Malley American Indian Education Parent Council and Jenks Public Schools.

Changes to this handbook are implemented as needed to assure programs and procedures remain in compliance with tribal, federal, state and district requirements. New policies, procedures, and programs must be approved by the Parent Council and Jenks Public Schools.

The Parent Council, with the District, has developed this handbook. The handbook describes programs, policies and procedures for students, parents, and staff. The handbook may be accessed at www.jenksp.s.org or a copy may be obtained in the NAE office. Parents should become familiar with those sections that concern programs or policies benefiting their child.

The information in this handbook is vital to a student's successful participation in NAE programs for Jenks Public Schools. Changes to this handbook become effective at the beginning of the current school year and remain in effect until such time that changes are made by the Title VI and/or Johnson O'Malley American Indian Education Parent Council.

Notice to Parents

Enrollment in Native American Education (NAE) is not automatic at the time of school enrollment. A 506 Form and Certificate of Degree of Indian Blood (CDIB) card and/or a tribal membership card must be on file in the NAE office in order for a student to be enrolled in NAE programs.

Through funding provided by Johnson O'Malley and Title VI grants, the NAE program provides financial support and supplemental programs for all Native American and Alaska Native students enrolled in NAE.

All expenses incurred by NAE programs are funded through the Johnson O'Malley (JOM) and/or Title VI grant funds.

JOM Grant funding information: In 1994, the legislature froze the Jenks JOM student count at 286 students. Each year the District's Native American student count has increased, however, funding has remained at the 1994 allocation. In 2001, Johnson O'Malley (as administered by the Muscogee Creek Nation) began funding this grant at a per pupil rate.

Title VI Grant funding information: While the actual student count continues to increase, the legislative funding for this grant has decreased each year since 1994. The allocation to the District, from this grant, varies.

NOTICE: If a student is enrolled after the annual student count has been completed, Native American Education will not receive funding for that student for the current school year.

The Parent Council continues to implement the policies and procedures as follows:

- * All students will be served based on enrollment regardless of funding;
- * Enrollment is open throughout the school year;
- * Requests for services follow guidelines in this handbook.

Your involvement in the Parent Council is the backbone of this program. You are invited to attend all Council meetings.

This handbook is the result of collaboration by the District and the Council Members.

The Annual Election Meeting will be held in the Education Service Center, Room 204. All Regular Council Meetings are held at Jenks Public Schools, Education Service Center, Room 204

Requisite classes and grade level requirements must be met to enroll in an Advanced Placement (AP) class.

To meet the needs of students with exceptional abilities and interests in rigorous education studies, Advanced and Pre-Advanced Placement classes are offered at the high school for juniors and seniors.

Advanced Placement courses are taught at the high school. The depth of study and the approach used by the teacher is suited for the self-directed, independent learner. Enrollment in AP classes is voluntary. A student may receive college credit if he/she receives a score of 3 or better on the National AP test.

The National AP test dates are usually in May of each year. There is no limit to the number of tests a student may take.

The cost of each test varies and is dependent upon the test subject and the number of tests taken. The classroom teacher(s) must approve the student's eligibility to take the test. With a teacher's approval, NAE will pay for the test. Students must be a junior or senior enrolled in the class for which they wish to test and have at least a "B" in the course at the time of registration.

When grant funds are available; Native American Education Program offers payment assistance for fees and materials to students enrolled in the program prior to the AP test application due date.

Cultural-Academic Parallel Curriculum

“The farther back you look, the farther ahead you can see.” Sir Winston Churchill

The mission for creating a Cultural-Academic Parallel Curriculum is to foster and promote Jenks Public Schools’ vision of creating an awareness and understanding of the diverse cultures in our school through equity in school programs.

Native American history and culture is one of many diverse foundations of the history of the United States. Every student should have the opportunity to experience their history. It is the intent of the Native American Education program to collaborate with all staff to create a program that is intellectually challenging while reinforcing a culturally and developmentally appropriate individual student identity. Through providing cultural presentations as well as access to reference materials that are considered relevant and authentic, the Native American Education program strives to create and share a variety of flexible resources that will enrich the students learning experience.

The program’s instructional delivery is through cultural presentations, as well as other resources such as books, DVD’s and cultural curriculum that are considered relevant to the Oklahoma state standards as well as authentic to the culture. Many of the resources are available through the site libraries, as well as through The NAE Resource Center.
